THE LISTENING POST

● A problem that has existed for a number of years has been attacked in a common sense manner by school and city officials, and there is little doubt that this manner of attacking the problem will be effective. It is the problem of safety for school children and is being attacked on two fronts by school action and city action. A campaign of education will be used, for both the children and for those automobile drivers who drive in such manner as to endanger the lives of the children. If this campaign of education fails to bring better conditions stronger steps are to be taken.

● For several years there has been a condition around the schools that meant danger for the children as they were coming to and leaving the schools. To begin with the children walked in the streets too much, thus constituting a hazard, and also there were too many automobile drivers who traveled too fast on the streets bordering the schools. Signs have been set up designating that section as a school zone, and other efforts have been made to eliminate this danger, but with indifferent success. Now specific efforts will be made by city authorities, school authorities and the Parent-Teachers organizations, and it is hoped that the problem will be met.

● A safety patrol is to be formed in the schools, and these traffic officers will police the streets about the school building. They will educate and warn the school children against walking in the streets and warn them of the hazard they take in doing this. In case of continued defiance of these warnings the traffic patrol will have power to report offenders to school authorities, and it is likely that some sort of traffic court will be set up in the schools to mete out proper punishment to persistent traffic violators. The patrol will also see that smaller children are given proper escort and protection when crossing streets, and in general take the place of real traffic policemen.

● The city has pledged, full cooperation for the plan. Chief Dalton and his force will visit the schools and instruct the traffic control squad in the proper procedure and in general get the patrol started off right. Automobile owners are to be warned that cars must be driven at proper speeds on the streets adjacent to the schools, owners of trucks which are driven by employees are to be informed that speed limits must be respected near the schools, and then the school patrol, when seeing a car that is being driven at excessive speed near the schools will take the number of that car and turn it over to the police department for action. Thus, it can be seen, that the police will have real officers on patrol duty near the schools at all times, and cases can be dealt with properly.

● There is no disposition on the part of the school or city authorities to deal harshly with anyone at the beginning. Everybody feels that when the public is fully informed along this line full cooperation may be expected. But for those who wilfully and persistently refuse this cooperation appropriate action will be taken. It has been fully decided that the problem must be solved; that the children are exposed to too much danger as matters now stand, and this plan, it is believed, will obviate a great deal of this danger.

London, Paris Seek Lasting Peace Set-Up

Baldwin Comes To Rescue Of Premier Chamberlain In Debate

London. — Britain and France launched simultaneous diplomatic moves aimed at permanent European appeasement today as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain won powerful support for his bitterly attacked Munich accord which carved up Czechoslovakia.

Earl Baldwin, the Prime Minister's predecessor, told the House of Lords "there was nothing else he could have done" when Chamberlain decided to see Adolf Hitler at Berchtesgaden.

"I thank God he was able to do it," declared the man who as Prime Minister guided Britain through the abdication crisis in December, 1937.

Acting on the heels of the Munich agreement which partitioned the Czechoslovakian Republic but preserved peace, Britain began friendship negotiations with Italy through her Ambassador in Rome, the Earl of Perth.

Daladier Sees New Era
Negotiations were designed to better Anglo-Italian relations through some settlement of the irksome Spanish question, thus putting into effect the Easter friendship pact between Italy and Britain.

In Paris, Premier Edouard Daladier announced that France saw the beginning of a new era of friendly relations with Germany and that a French Ambassador would be sent soon to Rome, resuming relations which have been virtually disrupted for two years over France's refusal to recognize the Italian conquest of Ethiopia.

Mrs. W. T. Hill Dies In Virginia

Mrs. Hill lived in Fulton for a number of years, leaving here only a few years ago to make her home in Virginia. Many friends here will regret to learn of her death, and extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

Pickwick Houses Soon To Join Gilbertville Dam Site Town

Gilbertville, Ky. — The TVA village which is rapidly rising on the hills and in the valleys south of here will receive new members to its growing family of bunk houses and office buildings next week.

Barges will come down the Tennessee from Pickwick Landing, 184 miles away. On the barges will be dwelling houses which were used to house workers who constructed the Pickwick Landing dam.

The houses will be set up as a part of the TVA "town" here, and will be occupied by workers when construction on the Gilbertville dam starts next summer. Only about three or four of the units will arrive next week, it was reported. Others will follow from time to time.

The TVA decided to ship the houses down the river when it was figured that the cost of transporting them would be less than that of constructing similar units at the Gilbertville "town." Since the Pickwick Landing dam is completed, the houses are no longer needed there.

Activity in and around Gilbertville increases daily to prepare the site for starting actual work on the

Fulker Delivers Powerful Sermon At Baptist Revival

"For God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life" was the text Rev. Woodrow Fulker used for his sermon last night in the revival services now in progress at the First Baptist Church.

After having read John 3:14-21 as scriptural meditation Rev. Fulker announced John 3:16 as his text, and said: "My only purpose tonight, my only hope, my only idea, is to simply let the verse John 3:16 outline itself and bring its own message as we study it. There are seven plain scripture divisions of this verse of scripture. First—'For God.' Who is then the principal person? It is God. Sometimes preachers, laymen, and other individuals come to think they are the principal person. It is not true. God is the principal person—God the Creator, and God the force and that holds all things together. God who is from the beginning to the end. God is the principal person in the world's love drama. God is the same yesterday, today, and forever. God that changes not! There is no possibility for God to change without losing his divinity. God is not a God that has to be awakened to hear the cries of his children. We find the foot-prints of God in all nature and all life."

Second—"For God so loved." The pure passion in the world's great love drama without love. The love of God sent Jesus to this world. That love of God goes deep under the sea, far from the shore, to the depths of sin. The love of God that was in Christ Jesus is God's pure passion, for he so loved that he gave His only begotten Son.

Third—"For God so loved the world." It is for the world of sinners that Christ died. While we were yet sinners Christ died for us and bore our sins in his body on the tree. Since by one man came condemnation so by one shall we be made alive. Jesus said he came and died for every man. He came to be our savior, the savior of perverse people. It was our sins that caused him to cry out "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

Fourth—"For God so loved the world that he gave." After all that is the test of love. Love always gives love shares what it has. The positive proof of love is gift. Not money alone—it means self, consecration, influence and time.

Fifth—"For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in him shall not perish but have everlasting life."

Fourth—"For God so loved the world that he gave." After all that is the test of love. Love always gives love shares what it has. The positive proof of love is gift. Not money alone—it means self, consecration, influence and time.

Robber And Wife Are Sentenced To Death In Hot Springs Trial

Hot Springs, Ark. — Joseph B. Anderson, 37, and his wife, Lucille, 33, a native of Kentucky, were condemned to death in the electric chair last night after a fourteen-hour trial for the robbery killing of Edon Cooley, grocery chain official, September 8.

The verdict automatically carries the extreme penalty. Arkansas has never executed a woman.

Alfred "Pug" Dickson, accused by Anderson as the actual "trigger man" in the slaying, and Clarence "Bill" Johnson were called to trial today on first degree murder charges in the crime. The State is asking their execution, with indications that Anderson will be used as a prosecution witness.

Railway Pay Gains Cited

Washington. — The railroads, defending their demand for a 15 percent wage cut, contended today that the average pay of their workers during the first half of 1938 was the highest in twenty-two years.

J. Elmer Monroe, statistician for the Association of American railroads, gave to President Roosevelt's fact-finding board a table showing workers in the first six months of this year, an annual rate of $1.46 average earnings of $18.83 for rail 837.66.

This compared, Monroe said, to an average of $871.83 for the first six months of 1937 and $1,781.21 for the year.

Monroe's figures showed, however that despite the higher average pay per worker, the railroads' total payrolls for the first six months of this year were $126,183,570 under the $977,697,399 paid in the first six months of 1937. This was accompanied by reducing the number of employees from 1,121,426 to 926,688.

In testimony yesterday, A. F. Cleveland said the Government was largely responsible for financial difficulties of the railroads which the carriers contend make a pay cut necessary.

Community Chest In Meeting Yesterday

The Community Chest Board of Fulton held its regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the City Hall, and O. K. d. bills in the amount of $40.96. There is a balance in the treasury of $1.11.

There are uncollected pledges of slightly more than one hundred dollars and the continuance of the operation of this body for the next month will depend upon the collection of these pledges.

Plans for another campaign are under consideration later in the fall.

Stealing Cops' Motor Proves Not So Simple

Pittsburgh. — Two thieves spotted a plain black sedan, the keys in the ignition switch. They drove it away, thinking how easy it was.

Then the radio blared out: "All cars, be on the lookout for a plain black car. This is a police car."

The police found it two blocks from the spot where it had been parked by detectives.

Girl Released In Dad Killing

New Lexington, Ohio. — Pretty Virginia Annon, 18, was released from jail today after Prosecuting Attorney T. B. Williams exonerated her tentatively for shooting to death her 63-year-old father.

Williams said the girl's story of slaying John Annon with a rifle after he threatened to kill his wife was affirmed by her mother and a sister, Georgia.

Sheriff James Adair said Virginia fired as her father attacked Mrs. Annon after an argument. Annon was a coal miner and pottery worker, but had been out of work for five years and depended on his eight children for support, the Sheriff said.

Freed Prison Inmate Back As Executive

McAllister, Okla. — Three days ago Dr. W. R. Armstrong completed his five-year automobile theft term at the State Penitentiary. Today he was back at the prison—as a staff member receiving $175 monthly.

His work as an inmate instructor at the Stringtown Sub-Prison School brought favorable attention. So prison officials named him director of academic courses at the prison school and resident physician.

Skating Rink Will Open Here On October 25th.

Actual construction started the first of this week on the new skating rink which will be owned and operated here by Edvis Myrick and Charlie Newton.

The rink will be very conveniently located inside the building on Fourth Street which was formerly used by I. H. Read for used cars and will probably remain there throughout the winter months. The floor, which will measure fifty feet wide and ninety long, is being made of hard maple wood which has been proven to be very good material for rink use. The floor, being built by sections, is on a level twenty-one inches from the concrete floor of the building. This is being done so that it will be protected against flood water from Harris Fork Creek.

The usual space for spectators will be afforded at each side. Messrs. Myrick and Newton said today that the rink would be finished, including the sanding of the floor, and will be ready for their opening on the afternoon of Saturday, October 15.

Two stoves will be placed in the building for heating during the winter months.

The public is cordially invited to attend the memorial services.

Accidental Blackout At Port Brings Peril To Plane Traffic

Chicago. — An accidental "blackout" of the Chicago municipal airport virtually paralyzed the crossroads of the Nation's airplanes during the rush hour last night.

FDR Calls For Labor Peace With Industry

Feels Better Business Would Result If Name Calling Stopped

Hyde Park, N. Y. — President Roosevelt was said on high authority today to believe that business would have a clear track toward better times if industry and labor substituted friendly conferences for name-calling and recrimination.

Whether the disclosure of this opinion meant that the President was preparing to act toward industrial peace was not announced. The mere statement of his sentiments was conveyed without comment to newspapermen at the temporary White House here.

At his press conference the President himself had no statement to make regarding business.

Those who spoke authoritatively regarding Mr. Roosevelt's attitude suggested that the bitterness in the domestic economic scene parallels the recent European crisis.

The war-like gestures of European nations, they said, find their analogy in what they described as frightening statements, misrepresentations, government policy for partisan political purpose, too-gloomy predictions of the future and the raising of bodies to scare the people.

Friends of Mr. Roosevelt said that the sooner labor and industry sat around the conference table and stopped hurling names at each other, the sooner the nation would see business make real progress.

At his press conference the President had no comment on the recent European settlement.

Responding to a question as to whether the United States would initiate a program to bring about world disarmament, Mr. Roosevelt suggested that reporters read the record of the administration's foreign policy for the last five years.

During that period, there have been indications the government was ready and willing to talk over international problems with other nations.

The same sources responsible for disclosing Mr. Roosevelt's opinion on industrial peace, and its relation to betterment of business, cited several examples of what they considered misrepresentations of government policy. These included:

Efforts to make it appear the government planned to set up agencies similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority all over the country.

Contentions that it is impossible to raise money for new developments by privately-owned utility units.

Assertions that the federal tax burden now is heavier than it was one or three or five years ago.

Acts Of Provocation Followed The Armistice

When you have said all that there is to say about Herr Hitler's appeals to violence and his acts of provocation, one fact remains, and there is no dodging it: the victor nations in the World War have certainly been asking for something like this.

If one thing is completely obvious in this tragic European situation, it is that the Czech crisis and all that goes with it were created, down to the last detail, by what the allies did after the armistice of 1918.

Armistice Day found Germany utterly beaten: The world's most feared army had been roundly whipped, the militaristic gang which had led Germany into the war was disgraced and in flight, the German people had acquired a deep and sincere desire for peace. On that foundation there could have been built a lasting peace; all that was needed was a little justice, a little reason, an evident desire to do the right thing.

But what happened? Impossible peace terms were imposed. The Germans were compelled to remember the treaty with burning resentment; and all of their efforts to negotiate better terms were scornfully rebuffed. When the fantastic reparations scheme broke down, a French army marched into the Ruhr; when economic pressure forced Germany to seek a customs union with Austria, the French sternly barred the way. Nor did the allies honor their own pledge to disarm.

Year after year, the victors did everything conceivable to prove that Germany could not improve her lot by peaceful negotiation—and let it be remembered that the republican government of Germany did honestly try to live in peace and friendship with its neighbors.

One can understand all of this only by assuming that the victors were not satisfied with military victory; they aimed to keep Germany permanently weak. And since Germany is one of the most virile and industrious nations on earth, such an effort was foredoomed to failure.

In any case, the allies created Hitler. They provided the atmosphere of desperation in which his frantic appeals to his people would be listened to; they made it clear that only through force could Germany hope to get relief. They set the stage for him, down to the last prop.

And then, having done all this, they retreated again and again before his threats—adding the last bit of proof to his argument that by acting tough Germany could get what she could not get by being conciliatory.

Today the allies face a dire problem in middle Europe—and all one can say is that they have been asking for it ever since 1918.

To the end of time, this ought to be an object lesson to all nations—an object lesson is how not to behave after a victory. —Jackson Sun.

Army Seeks Faster Ships

Washington — Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, new chief of the Army Air Corps, said today this country doesn't need a great many more military airplanes, but needs faster ones.

When the present development program is completed in 1904 the Army will have 2,320 aircraft, General Arnold, in an interview, called this "a very good figure as things stand now."

But greater speed is needed, he said, remarking that "bombing planes will speed over 300 miles per hour are just around the corner and other fighting craft will be faster."

Time Big Factor

"The bomber can carry the bomb load," he said. "The navigator can locate his position. With the bomb sight, we can hit the target. The main thing is improved performance—to gain speed, cut down time."

Speed is one of the factors studied in the Army air tests now under way at Fort Bragg, N. C. A telephone network has been set up to warm the fort of approach of "enemy" planes, so defending planes may take the air.

THE popular idea of advertising is that it consists chiefly in the writing of advertisements. More important than the preparation of copy, however, is the ability to understand the prospective customer's wants so as to know how the most effective sales appeal may be made.

All of us are engaged in some form of selling every day. Perhaps you need do nothing more than sell yourself. When all is said and done, successful selling depends largely upon each man's individual ability to adapt himself to the peculiar circumstances of each situation and to handle with skill the numerous details that enter into the sale. This requires the use of observation, diplomacy, persistence, patience and a full knowledge of the commodity one is selling. Of course, there can be no hard and fast rules for conducting interviews with an almost endless variety of human beings. The salesman, like the military general, must plan his campaign with all the resourcefulness at his command.

Enthusiasm is the spark in the salesman's personality. It is the glow of sincerity that radiates naturally from the face of the salesman who believes in himself and his ability to sell; who believes in the merits of his product and the company back of it; and who believes in the profession of selling as one that is worthy of his best efforts.

Law Enforcement Agencies Sifted In Brooklyn

New York. —In a sweeping investigation of law enforcement agencies in Brooklyn, financial records relative to District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan and forty-four members of his staff were subpoenaed today from 1,402 institutions.

The Brooklyn Eagle said William B. Herlands, Commissioner of Investigation, had acted on orders issued Sunday by Mayor F. H. La Guardia.

The subpoenas were served on banks, trust companies, brokerage houses, insurance, loan and safe deposit companies in the five boroughs of New York City.

Commissioner Herlands said his department was interested in the matter of a "$50,000 appropriation last year to the Rackets Bureau of the Kings County District Attorney's office," and that "we are definitely interested in alleged bribery in connection with Brooklyn's fur racket."

Ickes Reveals Funds Of P. W. A. Nearly All Gone

Washington — Administrator Ickes said today P. W. A. expected to exhaust available funds during the next two weeks, leaving thousands of public works projects for which no allotments can be made. If all the 12,804 new applications received by P. W. A. before the deadline last Friday were to be approved, Ickes said, they would require loans of $788,298,529 and grants of $1,381,884,891.

P. W. A., however, had only $965,000,000 for its 1938 program and of this less than $100,000,000 remains unallotted.

An application of Daviess County, Kentucky, for a grant of $112,000 to help finance construction of a Court House and remodeling was rejected.

The rejection was ordered because work on the projects could not be started by January 1, the deadline for construction under the P. W. A. program.

vet in him. That is the plain plan of John 3:16. Sometimes we stumble at the plan of salvation, forgetting its simplicity. God gave his only son as a sacrifice for our sins. Any individual that believeth on Jesus Christ is not condemned, but one who does not believe is condemned already.

Sixth—"For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish. . . That is the perpetual purpose. It means when we deliver our souls to him we shall not perish. It is God who saves. We surrender and he does the work.

Seventh—"For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." The thought of not perishing is not the greatest thing in it. The greatest thing is the climax of John 3:16—"Shall not perish but have everlasting life." All the things you can think of in this life are as cheap tenware of a ten cent store compared with the Jewel of eternal life.

FULTON'S CHANCE TO GET T. V. A.

The Utility Franchise Has Already Expired
 This Bond Issue Will Not Increase Your Taxes On Any Property.

Tuesday, November 8th will be a memorial day for Fulton, the day your Mayor and Council have made it possible for you to VOTE on Electric Revenue Bonds. Don't be misinformed. The Bond Issue will not increase the tax rate on any property owner. On the face of the Bond it will state that the bonds are secured by the Electrical System, and are not a lien on any City Property, real or personal. The bonds are retired by Electric Customers of the City and at the same time you will get your electricity from 25% to 50% cheaper even after paying the bond and interest expense.

This is the plan: To acquire either by building a new or buying the existing electrical distributing system, then in the remote event that Fulton can not get T. V. A., then it will build its own Electric Generating Plant.

The Y. M. C. U. believes this will be the greatest progressive step in Fulton's proud history.

THE shortest definition of salesmanship is — service. Every salesman should remember that one reason why service is important is that it builds in the mind of the buyer a feeling of satisfaction and confidence that makes the one-time buyer into a steady customer.

The most successful sales clerk in any retail store is the one who understands the merchandise he is selling and the customers who buy. The job of selling the right article to the right person is of great importance. Many persons appreciate having a clerk inquire as to the use which is to be made of a certain article and it is often good judgment on the clerk's part to express an opinion as to the material under consideration. It is the ability to give personal attention that sets the successful sales clerk apart from his or her associates.

Few persons say "Good Morning" or "Good Afternoon" well. It is possible to put a great deal of feeling into two words and the person who sells should learn that the proper delivery of the salutation is very important. Give it heartily and courteously, yet without over-emphasis of gush.

Prison Labor Plan Devised

St. Paul — A plan for use of prison labor involving giving of Federal aid to States to provide working capital for new industries was recommended to the American Prison Congress today by A. H. Conner, Washington, associate commissioner, Federal Prison Industries, Inc.

The plan contemplates congressional action authorizing loans to States large enough to furnish their own market for the products, and the creation of co-operative association of States which are too small to operate upon a State basis by themselves.

The Federal loans would be used for working capital and the establishment of new industries or the rehabilitation of existing industries.

Conner proposed that the co-operative association of the smaller industries to the member States control production, purchase surplus products upon a cost basis, and sell such products at current market rates to member States and their tax-supported institutions municipalities or agencies.

The profits of the association would be used to establish reasonable reserves and amortize the Federal loans, the balance to be distributed to the member States in proportion to their purchases.

Long Lived The King ... But It Was a Hard Life

All Europe marveled at the pomp and splendor of Louis Fourteenth. Yet, in all his 77 years, the French King had no refrigerator, fans or telephone...no radio or movies...no inflated tires on his gaudy coach.

So, it appears that we Americans don't live like Kings at all. We live better... far beyond the dreams of our pioneers... in a land of peace, coddled by science and invention...strengthened by the knowledge that this land of ours will always offer ample rewards to those with faith in the foundations laid down by our forefathers...faith in our national destiny... faith in themselves.
